Water Mills

Stainsby Mill

This National Trust property is a working water mill, with a Derbyshire Gritstone and a French Burstone in working condition. The third stone is fixed, but not working. The mill is on the Hardwick Hall estate and has a cast iron water wheel powering the stones and grain hoist.

Wholegrain wheat flour and spelt flour are milled and sold at the mill and in the Hardwick Estate shop at the hall. This is typical of cold milled flours and it is exceptionally good for bread baking.

There is a small shop at the mill but there are no refreshments on site. For facilities, Hardwick Hall is just a short drive along the road.
