Bunbury Water Mill

Mill Lane, Bowes Gate Road, Tarporley, CW6 9PP

01829 261422

There has been a mill at Bunbury since the 11th century. The current mill was built in 1850 for the miller Thomas Parker. This mill has an overshot wheel within the lower floors of the building. From 1975, the mill was restired as part of a job creation scheme under the management of Denis Buchanan. In March 2012 the mill was acquired by Bunbury Mill Trust and opened to the public.

The mill is open on Sundays and bank holiday Mondays. Check with the website before visiting to make sure that your visit is within the opening season. Wholemeal flour is milled on site and can be purchased at the mill.
